Gale Causes Widespread Damage

WIRES, TREES DOWN IN HEAVY BLOW

Harbor Swept by 45-Mile Storm

The year's hardest desert wind whipped through Orange county today.

Agricultural officials warned that "some" damage could be expected, although it probably would be lighter than the record wind wreckage reported two years ago when many groves were burned and stripped.

"After more or less practice," says Charley, "picking out what he can afford to wire, every boy wants to answer his call and take a real message all on his own hook. There is a lot of difference in practicing with another student along the line and talking back and forth and maybe copying what he sends out of a newspaper or a book, and trying to copy a real message from a seasoned operator. You can naturally appreciate the boy's excitement and nervousness."

"Well, this happened in 1898 in the old Western Union office here in Santa Ana. A fellow named Bert Woodhouse was the operator and manager. It was a one-man office, open 8 a. m. to 12 noon, and 1 p. m. to 6 p. m. The messenger boy held down the office during the noon hour. The relay office was then, as now, in Los Angeles. Their call (then) was 'A' and Santa Ana's was 'Z.' Santa Fe here was 'NA' and the Southern Pacific was 'SN.' The Postal was 'SA.' I was a student over at the Postal, a one-man office, located where Montgomery-Ward's Main street shipping door is now."

It's drier in Santa Ana today than it is in the Sahara desert!

Junior college weather observers reported humidity was 12 per cent, actually lower than in the Sahara.

The 30-mile-an-hour wind defeated efforts of the meteorological department to record it.

It blew the wind apparatus off the junior college roof.

Newport Beach reported a 45-mile gale—with the wind gaged still intact.

In Placentia and La Habra, usually protected, the wind was blowing strongly. Citrus groves were not in immediate danger, although avocados were expected to suffer.

RECEIVERSHIPS SAID 'RACKET'

WASHINGTON. (AP)—Senator Truman (D., Mo.) told the Senate today that railroad receiverships were "the greatest racket on earth."

Delivering orally a report from the state railroad finance investigating committee, the Missouri senator called Federal Judge James H. Wilkerson of Chicago "the most notorious receivership judge on the federal bench."

In the two recoveries of the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul railroad, he said, "the highest of the high-hats in the legal profession" had "resorted to tricks that would make an ambulance chaser in a coroner's court blush with shame."

"These able and intelligent lawyers, counselors, attorneys, whatever you want to call them, have interviews and hold conferences with the members of the interstate commerce commission, take them to dinner and discuss pending matters with them."

Truman said T. D. Gresham, Texas and Pacific railroad counsel, and Mr. Shaw of Winston, Strawn and Shaw—this is Mr. Silas Strawn, past president of the National Chamber of Commerce and great upholder—had "obtained information" and "gave advice to members of the commission, or the court, on pending matters in private."

REDUCE ALL POLICE ON FIRST POLYTECHNIC BUILD- INGS.

"Now, read it again, Skinny. What do you make of it? Not much? Well, neither did Mr. Quick. A little after 1 p. m. he personally brought the message into Mr. Woodhouse and informed the gentleman: 'I can't make any sense out of this, Bert. What is it, anyway?' Of course Mr. Woodhouse knew nothing about my voluntary lunch-time service, but he did not that his own 'sense' was not on the message. Instead there was a 'CO' on it, indicating the receiving operator. He called L. A. and had the message dug out of the 'sent' files and repeated."

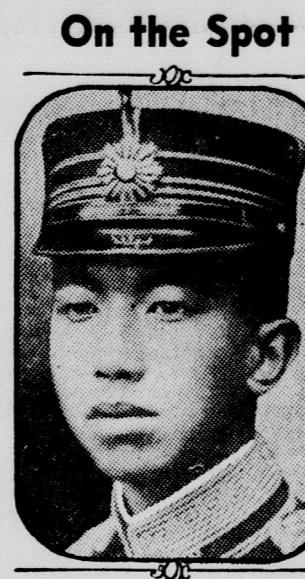

Mr. Woodhouse improved on the thing considerably. As he received it, it read:

RENEW ALL POLICIES ON FIRE PROTECTED BUILD- INGS.

I was instructed to keep my hands off the Western Union key in Santa Ana."

Since Charley's adolescent experience in telegraphy, communication systems have changed to beat the band, and also the times. Teletypes and telephones do the receiving, radio is so fast you get dizzy, but the good old sewing circle is still doing business at the old stand, although its circulation is somewhat slower.

However, the young operator who pulled a faux pas on his first "take" refused to surrender, and later on became an expert telegrapher, working on many of the (Continued on Page 2, Col. 2)

JO

EMPEROR HIROHITO

By DREW PEARSON
And BOB ALLEN

WASHINGTON.—These are the days when Hirohito, modest emperor of Japan, is very much on the spot.

Entirely aside from the demand of President Roosevelt for the emperor's apologies over the sinking of American ships in the Yangtze, the emperor has some pretty stiff problems on his hands—the most important of these being whether he will be the real ruler of Japan or become the mere puppet of Army and Navy.

For even before young Japanese officers began to go haywire, disregard the instructions of their superiors, and shoot up foreign vessels, the emperor was on the spot because of the fascist revolt within the army.

It began two years ago when a handful of young army officers walked with drawn revolvers into the homes of Japan's leading statesmen, shot them down in cold blood and proceeded to take over the city. Only a personal command from the emperor, plus the threat that they would be blown out of their barricaded building brought these young men to time.

The statesmen they shot were leaders of the moderate wing who had urged a more cautious Japanese policy abroad. They opposed the army's tactic of shaking the mailed fist under the world's nose.

Though the young officers finally surrendered, they did not altogether fail. For the Japanese government (Continued on editorial page)

Conductor Dies During Concert

LOS ANGELES. (AP)—Funeral services were being arranged today for John Smallman, who died just as he prepared to lead a chorus in the First Congregational church yesterday. Death was apparently due to heart disease.

Smallman, 51, was widely known as a conductor. The widow and son, Robert Smallman of Schenectady, N. Y., survive.

Overruling arguments by the justice department, Roberts said that the statute includes "within its sweep Federal officers as well as others."

Christmas Trade

The parcel post, stamps and general delivery windows at the Southern Counties Gas Co., 1032 East First street, gave firemen a scare Saturday night, but the small blaze had been put out when several pieces of fire-fighting equipment arrived.

An alarm was sounded at 5:42 p. m., and firemen lost no time getting to the gas company, which is well surrounded with highly explosive gas tanks.

No damage was caused by the explosion.

Quints Excited
Over Arrival
Of Santa Claus

CALLANDER, Ont. (Canadian Press)—Yvonne Dionne plunged down an icy slide today, summersaulted from her sled into a snowbank and bobbed up spitting snow and shouting "Pere Noel S'en vient!" Pere Noel S'en vient!"

The fact Santa Claus is coming has been all the Dionne quintuplets have been able to talk about for days and even a week-end in their front yard has been dwarfed in importance by the old gentleman's imminent arrival.

The slide was ready yesterday and the quintuplets stopped talking about Christmas long enough to troop out in 12-below zero weather and test it. Before you could say "Yvonne, Annette, Emilie, Cecile and Marie they had the thing figured out and were sliding down its icy surface, lying on their sleds in expert fashion.

Condition of
Leach Unchanged

Condition of Hunter Leach, police detective who underwent a delicate operation for a blood clot on the brain last week, was reported unchanged today after he reportedly had failed to show expected improvement over the week-end.

Attaches at St. Joseph hospital, where the operation was performed, indicated no serious complications have set in, however.

Net results of the squabble to date:

hired young Tommy Kuchel, neophyte assemblyman who also is an attorney. Kuchel actually did try a little pressure. Whether or not he threatened Inspector Byrd's job and took other steps with higher state officials we couldn't say.

HOT TRANSCRIPT

The reporter's transcript of the trial probably will show 55 objections per minute. McCabe linked the assemblyman with the ruckus, and Kaufman inferred that McCabe was an old nasty because he is city attorney of La Habra as well as a deputy district attorney (paid more than his boss, too).

Neither was able to get into the record any testimony as to whether any of McCabe's relatives had been Patagonians or whether Kaufman's great-uncle's cousin had had hives. The yapping went almost that far.

WAR OF WORDS RAGES OVER PANAY INCIDENT; STORIES CONFLICT

JAPANESE DENY ATTACK ON GUNBOAT

"Self-Defense" to Be Nippon's Plea, Report

SHANGHAI. (AP) — Completely conflicting reports, in one of which Japanese military official denied the U. S. gunboat Panay had been fired upon, in another a Japanese foreign office admitted the Panay had been machine-gunned, but indicated the firing was in "self-defense," and still a third, in which survivors contradicted both Japanese statements, characterized the Panay incident today.

Major General Kumakichi Hara, who reported "the sum total of staff officers' investigation" of the bombing of the gunboat and three Standard Oil tankers Dec. 12. In conflict with previous stories, Hara's statement:

1—Denied that Japanese army boats had fired on the Panay as it was sinking.

2—Asserted the gunboat was moving at the time of the incident, when officially it had been reported anchored for more than two hours in the Yangtze river 27 miles above Nanking.

Harada made three other points at variance with the accounts of the American and foreign eye-witnesses.

First, he said the captain commanding the Japanese unit at Hohsien reported the Panay fired three cannon at Japanese troops ashore.

NO MACHINE GUNNING

Secondly, he insisted that only three warplanes made the attack. Survivors reported it was made by three bombers followed by six smaller Japanese planes which machine-gunned the gunboat and Standard Oil ships, and the small boats landing survivors.

Thirdly, he made no mention of any machine-gunning from Japanese planes.

At virtually the same time, in Tokyo, the Japanese foreign office spokesman reversed a previous statement in which he had denied United States charges that the Panay had been fired on by Japanese river vessels.

PANAY FIRST?

He indicated Japan would plead self-defense.

The army personnel believes the Panay fired first, he said. He also "deplored" that the Panay had changed its position during the night without sufficient warning to the Japanese forces.

Despite statements of survivors to the contrary, the spokesman said visibility was poor at the scene of the attack, and that the American flag might not have been recognized.

CHINA REFUSES TO QUIT CONFLICT

HANKOW. (AP)—China will refuse to make any peace overtures to Japan, officials indicated today.

The nation is united as never before, they said, and the loss of Nanking has only intensified the government's determination to resist Japan until China's last resources are exhausted.

Recent peace gestures came from Japan through Germany, not from China they asserted.

One of Japan's chief aims in the conflict, they emphasized, was to destroy British-American influence and trade in China, and to convince the Chinese they could not depend in the future on these powers for support.

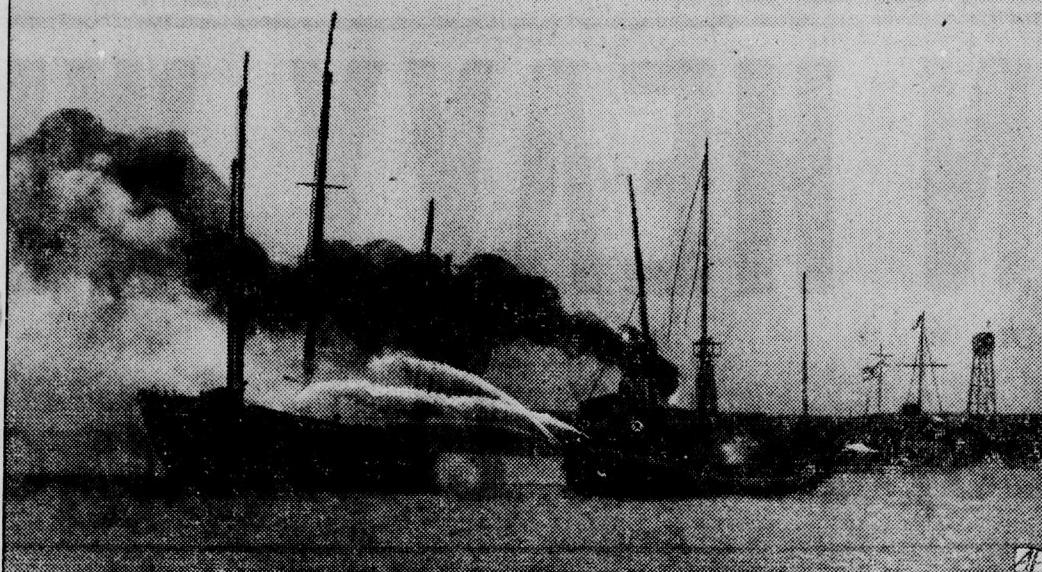

To support this, they cited the recent bombing of the Panay, and also of British warships in the Yangtze river.

The same officials expressed surprise that Great Britain and the United States failed to encourage Soviet Russia to enter the war. They said Russia was awaiting the signal from other powers to help China.

BRITISH SEEK NEW SAFETY ZONE

LONDON. (AP)—Britain today asked Japan to establish a safety zone at Hankow, one of China's temporary capitals where 1000 British nationals are concentrated. It was understood the United States and France were taking similar action, although the three countries did not act jointly.

The British idea of safety zone would be one which protected for

This fireboat poured streams of water on junks ignited in Shanghai's harbor by Japanese sailors in an effort to break through along the Nantao waterfront. Shipping was menaced.

SOVIET HITS SPY SYSTEM

MOSCOW. (AP)—A high Soviet official said today that America is "overrun with Japanese spies, and Japan in its turn seems to be an arena for American intelligence services."

This declaration was made by M. P. Frinovsky, vice commissar of internal affairs, or vice chief of the Soviet secret political police, in an article in Pravda, official communist newspaper.

Discussing the execution of eight once high-ranking communists for selling Soviet secrets to "fascist" spies, Frinovsky said:

"America, particularly the Pacific coast and the Panama canal, is overrun with Japanese spies."

He declared the Soviet service would "continue to destroy spies, terrorists, wreckers, plotters and counter-revolutionaries of all shades," indicating the end of the purge is not yet in sight.

"The ruin of spy and wrecking organizations by the intelligence services all over Soviet territory does not mean that all enemy agencies have been liquidated in our country," he said. "There are still enemies who conceal themselves from blows and continue their subversive work."

The announcement of the eight executions, which came last night, merely said the former party leaders were tried for high treason and shot. It was the first disclosure even that most of them were under arrest.

Despite statements of survivors to the contrary, the spokesman said visibility was poor at the scene of the attack, and that the American flag might not have been recognized.

D. A. Clears Kuchel In Fruit Case

Clearing Assemblyman Thomas Kuchel of Anaheim from any hint of criticism by his office over the Anaheim "frozen fruit" case, District Attorney W. F. Menton issued the following statement today:

"It has come to our attention that certain newspaper articles concerning the attempt to disqualify Judge Charles Kuchel of Anaheim, who is an uncle of Thomas H. Kuchel, in the Mills case, concerning frozen oranges, have indicated that this office has implied that our assemblyman from Anaheim, Thomas H. Kuchel, has attempted to obstruct or interfere with this prosecution. This office has never charged nor intimated that any conduct of Assemblyman Thomas H. Kuchel in connection with this case has been unethical or improper."

If such an impression has been gained by any person, we wish to correct the error at this time. We have no information, affidavits or statements which would justify such a conclusion.

Mr. Kuchel, acting as attorney for some of the orange growers in Anaheim and vicinity, did register vigorous protest against what he believed was unnecessarily severe inspection and condemnation of oranges, and endeavored to obtain for his clients, relief from what they believed to be unjust confiscation of oranges.

We do not now, and never have felt that he did anything wrongful or unlawful in looking after the interests of his clients.

I gladly take this opportunity of clearing Mr. Kuchel from any criticism. I regret that Mr. McCabe is not here to join with me in this statement, but he is in Sacramento today, investigating another phase of the case.

W. F. MENTON,
District Attorney.

coming United States ambassador to Great Britain.

The department of war, at the request of the state department, sent four troops of dismounted cavalry from Fort Knox, Ky., to act as an escort of honor for the 66-year-old envoy at the private burial in Cave Hill cemetery this afternoon.

Gov. A. B. Chandler ordered the flag over the state capital in Frankfort flown at half-mast.

Operations of Binghamton newspapers, the Louisville Courier-Journal and Times were adjusted to permit employees to meet the train on its arrival at 9:30 a.m. (C.S.T.) or view the body as it lay in state at Calvary church before funeral services at noon.

GERMAN WAR LEADER DIES

MUNICH, Germany. (AP)—Gen. Erich Ludendorff, 72-year-old idol of the German army, died today.

The German World war commander apparently was recovering from an operation on an infected bladder, but last night his heart failed.

Physicians made unavailing efforts to strengthen him with a blood transfusion. He remained fully conscious until 5 a. m., and finally died at 8:20 a. m.

Throughout his illness of more than three weeks the aged warrior showed the same Spartan self-discipline that had made him a symbol to Germany's army when he was chief of staff under Field Marshal Paul Von Hindenburg during the World war.

Just as he had refused to spare himself during the war and had worked more ardently than any of his colleagues, during his final illness he suppressed any sign of pain and implored his family not to shroud him.

By a strange coincidence, this arch enemy of Catholicism and militant apostle of a new, Aryan anti-Christian religion spent the final days of his life attended by nuns in the Catholic Josephinum hospital.

SPEEDBOAT CRACKS RECORD

concerning the American Power Boat association and the International Motor Yacht Racing Union in Brussels for confirmation.

Walter Olson of Los Angeles was chief timer during the trials, with Dr. C. Deming of Anaheim acting as referee for the American Power Boat association. A two-way short wave radio was used in timing the events.

Plots are allowed six laps to complete time trials, and Fageol had been gradually increasing speed of his "So Long" when the motor flew apart. Records must be based upon the best two consecutive runs.

The first lap he turned with his motor performing nicely at 3000 revolutions and a speed of about 50 miles an hour. The next two laps, in which he set his record, were made at 3200 revolutions. He was turning 3400 and had set a one-way speed mark of 71.429 miles per hour when the motor flew apart under the strain.

Fageol announced last night that he is planning a new challenge with his boat. With probably a new motor he will enter the Gold Cup races next fall in the East, and before that time probably will conduct other speed trials at Newport.

More than 1000 persons watched the trials from the Coast highway, from Lido Isle and from bluffs overlooking the course.

THE TIME FOR SAFETY . . . IS ALL THE TIME

There Is No Use

To preach Safety on city streets and county highways for a few weeks . . . then forget all the common-sense rules of safe and sane driving. TRULY THE TIME FOR SAFETY IS ALL THE TIME.

If we all, as good citizens of Orange county do our share in driving, walking and THINKING in traffic . . . our death toll will be lessened. The terrible tragic scenes of mangled, twisted bodies, the loss of a loved child or mother or father will not be stalking in our midst. But the burden lies upon us all.

Proper obedience of traffic rules, consideration and courtesy for the other fellow will help bring to an end the condition that exists now . . . always remember . . . THE TIME FOR SAFETY IS ALL THE TIME.

Do You Part to Prevent This

Let's All Pull for Safety

The Auto Toll 80 Killed In 1937

Let's Stop This Slaughter!

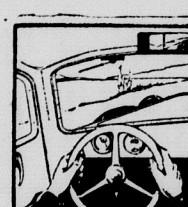

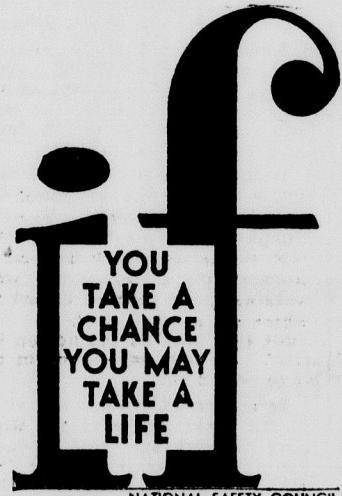

A Word About Bicycles

Bicycling is a great sport . . . but on congested city streets is apt to end in tragedy unless commonsense judgment is used. Grownups are as bad offenders of traffic "don'ts" as children . . . so it will be well for us all to heed these simple rules of bicycles and safety. Parents . . . impress them on your children.

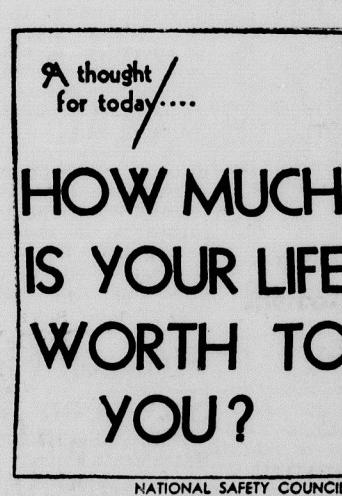

- 1—Learn to ride in a park or other safe place. Stay off streets until you can ride well.
- 2—Keep your bicycle adjusted to fit you and in good condition. Check your brakes frequently.
- 3—Keep to the right. In towns stay close to curbs.
- 4—Obey all traffic rules and regulations. Use hand signals when you are going to stop or turn.
- 5—Ride without wobbling and avoid sharp turns. Weaving through traffic is dangerous. Avoid fast riding over slippery or rough roads.
- 6—Never carry a passenger. It is dangerous and a violation of the law.
- 7—Never hold on to a moving vehicle.
- 8—When riding at night carry a light in front and either a light or a reflector in the rear. Light-colored clothing also helps motorists to see you.
- 9—Do not try to carry an object in one hand or ride in the street "no handed" . . . if parcels must be carried they should be carried in a carrier or strapped to the bicycle.
- 10—Choose your route carefully. Avoid crowded streets and highways.

Mae's Eve Too Tough; Solon Cracks Down

WASHINGTON. (AP)—Representative Connery (D., Mass.) demanded today that the communications commission revoke the license of the radio station from which an "Adam and Eve" broadcast, featuring Mae West, originated last week.

Connery declared the program was "indecent."

The communications commission already has ordered the National Broadcasting company to submit a copy of the broadcast as well as copies of the contract between the sponsor (Chase and Sanborn) and N. B. C., and names of stations which produced the program.

Connery, in a letter to Frank R. McNinch, commission chairman, said the commission was "derelict in enforcing the communications act," and that he had received a "volume of complaints" against the program which he termed "so indecent it violated the sensibilities of even those who are familiar with the burlesquing of historical events."

MEDWICK LEADS DEFENSE AS WELL AS OFFENSE FOR '37

Jockey Adams Has 33 Winners in 25 Days at Tanforan

NEW YORK. (AP) — The National league announced its official fielding averages for 1937 today—and that Medwick man is again.

It wasn't enough that Ducky-Wucky (of the St. Louis Cardinals and Carteret, N. J., Medwicks) collected just about every offensive title for slaughtering pitchers with his big bat. He was the loop's champion fielding outfielder for the year, as well.

With his offensive and defensive sweep, Ducky headed a quartet of pretty handy guys to around last season. Each swing a wicked war club to finish among the first six batters in the league, and each was tops at his position.

He upset the dopeseters when he brought in Whichever to the win the $10,000 added San Francisco handicap over a mile and a sixteen Saturday. Amor Brum, the big South American mystery horse favored to take the race, was fifth.

Whichever paid its backers $4.30, $3.20 and $3.

Santa Anita will be Adams' next stop. He will ride first-string for Darrel Cannon and the A. C. T. stock farm.

BULLDOGS COP 14TH, 21-3

LOS ANGELES. (AP) — The Bulldogs of Los Angeles today held another professional football victory over the troublesome Salinas Packers, winning by the decisive score of 21 to 3.

Playing before about 15,000 spectators in Gilmore stadium yesterday, the Bulldogs then put over two touchdowns in the same quarter, Ed (Crazy Legs) Stark drew first blood in the second period when Arleigh Williams booted a 17-yard field goal.

The Bulldogs then put over two touchdowns in the same quarter, Ed (Crazy Legs) Stark drew first blood in the second period when Arleigh Williams booted a 17-yard field goal.

At the hot corner, the figures indicate Med wasn't altogether a huge success. His .939 mark in 60 games was among the lowest in the league, while Whitney, after appearing about washed up in 1936, banged back to the top of the big-time with a .982 mark in 130 games, committing only seven errors in handling 381 chances.

His nearest rival among the 100-game regulars was springer Don Gutteridge of the Cards, four points behind.

For Hartnett, who gave Medwick a red-hot fight for the most valuable player award, the fielding averages just add further evidence to the already accepted contention that he was no peer behind the plate in the senior circuit. Gabby handled 503 chances and was charged with just two errors for a .996 fielding average.

With the first-half championship already sewed up by Wilson's Dairy, the fight for second place in the Y. M. C. A. basketball league among the Advent Christians, Treestreet Products and Al's Lock and Key Shop quintets will not be decided until the final round next week.

Wilson's should capture its 10th straight win tonight against the Church of the Brethren at 7:15, while part of the second place situation may be decided when Treestreet and Advent Christians hook in the feature at 8:30.

Y' FIVES PLAY DOUBLEHEADER

Ted Christy, the arch-villain of the Christy brothers, and considered by experts as one of the outstanding junior heavyweights in the game, makes his first appearance at the Orange County Athletic club Thursday night.

Christy has been signed to meet Popeye (The Sailor) O'Brien in the special event of the four-bout program that will feature two three-fall-to-a-finish matches.

The undefeated masked "Black Dragon" opposes Pete Belcastro, claimant to the Pacific coast junior heavyweight championship, and Bobby Roberts tackles Frank Clements in the two three-fall-to-a-finish features. Duke Pettigrove and Frank Taylor, a newcomer, opens the show.

ROBERTSON OF H. B. UPSET IN TOURNEY

Santa Ana Country club's annual men's golf championships will go into the finals next Sunday without the defending titlist, Jack Robertson of Huntington Beach.

The 36-hole finals will be waged between two Santa Ana golfers—A. W. Robinson and W. W. (Bill) Foote.

Robinson, with nine consecutive pars on the outgoing holes, played some of the most consistent golf of his career to oust the favored Robertson over the Newport harbor boulevard links yesterday, while Foote eliminated Horner Robinson in the other semi-final match.

Robertson was off form, finishing four strokes behind on the first nine. The respective cards:

EX-GOVERNOR OF ISLANDS TO SPEAK

The speaker at tomorrow's session of the Citizens' Open Forum will be Newton J. Gilbert, former governor-general of the Philippines islands. The meetings are held each Tuesday evening at 7:45, in the Unitarian church, 8th and Bush streets. Gilbert, who spent almost two score years in the Orient, will talk on the position of the Philippines in the present Sino-Japanese struggle.

Citing the great mineral and petroleum wealth of the Philippines as its greatest danger, Mr. Gilbert will tell what, in his opinion, will become of the islands if Japan is entirely successful in her present effort to conquer China. Mr. Gilbert will be introduced by Don Cook, newspaperman, who spent several years in China and other parts of the Orient.

NEW PRORATE LAW EXPECTED

SACRAMENTO. (AP)—Putting teeth in the state's prorate marketing act was added today to the possible list of matters the legislature will be asked to act upon if it is called into special session, Governor Merriam said.

While he has not definitely decided to call a special session early next year, he stated the oil situation in Southern California is rapidly approaching a status where special legislation is necessary.

Low cost housing will be another item in the call for a special session if it is issued the governor indicated.

Indians May Use Planes For Annual Round-Up

YAKIMA, Wash. (AP)—The Klickitat Cattlemen's association, an All-Indian organization, planned today to use airplanes to complete their fall cattle round up.

The association cattle range is in the rugged Mount Adams country.

After following the usual horse-back fall round-up the 555 members of the association found they were short more than 200 cattle. The Indians said they are convinced the cattle are in a small band in the mountains but though they have scouted the lower foothills they have been unable to find them. Snow is deep in many parts of the range.

Lester Pearne president of the association, yesterday interviewed pilots here on the use of airplanes to find the cattle.

I JUST FOUND OUT—

Watching Life Go By on S. A. Street

By MILLARD BROWNE

Life began at 69 for George Scott, the "man on the street" who recognizes nearly every face in Santa Ana. His first life ended with a paralytic stroke seven years ago; the second miraculously started after doctors had lost all hope.

Now Scott is nearly 77, and getting stronger every day. "I'm going to get well," he insists. "I'm getting better all the time." Getting well is his one objective, and doctors now concede that his firm determination is what's turned the trick.

Every Santa Ana who walks along downtown streets knows George Scott. He's the man who sits in a wheelchair on a Fourth street corner day after day, waves a cheery hello to nearly everyone who passes. He doesn't know many of his countless friends by name, but he recognizes every face next time it passes.

Eight years ago Scott was "white as a sheet" and flat on his back in a bed at his home, 922 Spurgeon street. The stroke left him speechless, and he could barely move his paralyzed arm and leg.

But he yearned to see all his old friends, and he loved to be around people. At home, all he could do was worry about his health, and that made it worse.

So Scott finally kicked out the doctors who'd been attending him, had a man wheel him downtown. He parked on the corner for a few hours, felt a lot better when he got home.

It became a daily ritual. Hunted by the friends Scott had made while he was Santa Ana city attorney before and during the war would stop and cheer him up while he sat in his wheelchair on the corner, and he thrived on the sunshine and companionship.

As he gained strength, Scott found he could stand on his once-paralyzed left leg. So he started walking, with the help of a friend. Finally he became independent and began sneaking off by himself and hobbling down to his Fourth street post without assistance. Worried the first few times he did this, his wife eventually became convinced he could take care of himself. Now she stays home and has supper waiting when he returns at about 5 o'clock.

Scott has a big breakfast, then goes downtown and parks on some busy intersection until about 5 p.m. He's dead tired when he gets home, but it's a refreshing fatigue. He skips lunch, but never misses the two meals a day he's allowed himself since his stroke.

An attorney and judge for 35 years before he was forced into retirement by the nearly-fatal stroke (he was superior judge in Council Bluffs, Ia., before he came here), Scott says he's always liked to chat with people, read, write and play cards and other games.

Now he's quit playing cards, and his paralyzed hand won't permit him to write. But he reads a lot—mostly outdoor magazines, which bring back memories of old hunting and fishing experiences—and he keeps up with events by carefully reading the daily newspapers.

Scott looks at the paralysis philosophically, credits it with curing all sign of digestive disorders and boasts he's "never had a sick day" since he got out of bed despite doctors' protests seven years ago. Once an incessant cigar smoker, Scott also says the stroke took away all desire to smoke.

From five to 25 people a day stop to ask Scott where such and such a street or building is. Many of them come to him before they go to the policeman on the corner, he says. It always amuses him when someone asks him about a

PRESSING DEMANDS

BLOOMFIELD, Neb.—Things came to a pretty pass on a paving project here.

A group of men issued an ultimatum to the mayor, threatening to halt work on the project unless given employment.

Then they commanded a tractor and started to work without benefit of authority.

Police seized the tractor and put it in storage.

And the mayor wired Washington to learn what to do about the situation.

An attorney and judge for 35 years before he was forced into retirement by the nearly-fatal stroke (he was superior judge in Council Bluffs, Ia., before he came here), Scott says he's always liked to chat with people, read, write and play cards and other games.

Now he's quit playing cards, and his paralyzed hand won't permit him to write. But he reads a lot—mostly outdoor magazines, which bring back memories of old hunting and fishing experiences—and he keeps up with events by carefully reading the daily newspapers.

Scott looks at the paralysis philosophically, credits it with curing all sign of digestive disorders and boasts he's "never had a sick day" since he got out of bed despite doctors' protests seven years ago. Once an incessant cigar smoker, Scott also says the stroke took away all desire to smoke.

The elderly ex-city attorney has failed to show up on Fourth street a few times during these last eight years, but it takes a pretty good rain to keep him home. The one a week ago did it, but he told his wife the day of inactivity "felt like three days."

Scott misses being able to write more than anything, but if you were to sympathize with him for it, he'd retort, "Oh, don't worry about that. I'll be able to write in another few months. I'm going to get well. I know I am." And he's probably right.

Expenses for repairs and insurance on the house itself, or for lodging while away from home, vary from an average of $14 for the lowest income to $193 for the highest.

Expense for household operation ranks third in nearly all income classes below $1500. This category includes all miscellaneous expenses of running the house, such as household help, fuel and power for cooking, heating and lighting, telephone, laundry and cleaning supplies.

For families in income classes of $1500 and above, clothing claims a larger percentage of total outlay than household operation, varying from $51 for incomes under $250 to $299 for incomes over $5000.

Orange county farm families with incomes of $1000 and over spend more for recreation than items of personal care, such as barber and beauty shops, toilet articles and preparations.

Smoking costs no more than reading, in all income levels.

S. F. BANKER LOSES HUGE LAND SUIT

LOS ANGELES. (AP)—Damages of $253,500, not including interest, against Herbert Fleishhacker, San Francisco banker, were awarded to 21 French heirs by Federal Judge Cosgrave in a suit involving potential oil land in Kern county.

Fleishhacker represented the original French owners in the sale of 150 acres of land in the Lost Hills area in 1915.

The Cah-Lazard heirs contended the banker was aware of the oil potentials of the property at the time and sold it for too low a figure, $46,500.

Judge Cosgrave upheld this contention, saying "I am convinced that in 1915 this land was proven oil land."

He said he thought a certain 80 acres would have had a value of $2500 in 1915.

Although the court made no mention of it in his oral decision, Harold Morton, attorney for the plaintiffs, said interest on the damages awarded would virtually double the total.

KILLER HANGS SELF

JOLIET, Ill. (AP)—Michael Mungas, 45, of Indiana Harbor, Ind., who State's Attorney James E. Burke said confessed firing the shot which killed Farmer Edward Pansa 10 days ago, was found hanged in his cell in the Will county jail today.

Records compiled for the 11 months of 1937 indicate that the yearly recovery figures will more than double those of any previous year. In 1937 thus far, 1263 growers have participated in actual money recovered and adjustments in excess of $360,000.

Division officers pointed out that there is no charge for the service and no costs or deductions from amounts recovered. Claims may be filed informally at any of the four division offices, maintained at Sacramento, San Francisco, Los Angeles and Fresno.

FARMERS GO IN FOR FOOD

Reading Cheap as Smoking

(This is the last of a series of three articles presenting "the average Orange county family." They are based on research by the Bureau of home economics, under a WPA project.)

BY BOB GUILDF

Farm families in Orange county are just as proud of their cars as family families—pride, in fact.

In all income classes over $250 a year, automobile expenditures rank second, just under food. In case of families earning less than $250 each year, automobile expense ranks third.

In the interests of fairness, since automobiles owned by farm families are often used extensively for farm and other business as well as for family transportation and recreation, only the proportion of total purchase and operating expense that was actually chargeable to family use are included in the automobile expenditure figures.

Such sums as the family is able to spend for life insurance, purchase of land, payment of debts or other items not classed as money income for family living, the proportion of the total money income thus "saved" rises to 40 per cent or more in the higher income brackets.

BICHAN-DAVIS RITES READ IN NEW CHURCH

Nuptial rites marked by their simplicity and dignity were performed at eight o'clock yesterday morning in the new First Presbyterian church to join Mrs. Edna Bichan and Louis S. Davis, well-known Santa Anans. The Rev. O. Scott McFarland performed the ceremony.

The bride wore an attractive black and white pinstripe tailored for the ceremony, with white satin blouse, black accessories, and a black straw hat. She wore a lovely corsage arrangement of white orchids.

Following the ceremony, which was read before a small group of intimate friends, the wedding party enjoyed a breakfast at Daniger's cafe. Included in the group were Mr. and Mrs. Henry A. Baldwin, a business associate of the groom, Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Miller, secretary of the Orange County Production Credit association, and the Rev. and Mrs. O. Scott McFarland.

The couple left for a honeymoon trip to Medford, Ore., where they will spend the Christmas holidays with the bride's mother, Mrs. David J. Steiner. Upon their return they will make their home at 1402 Cypress street. The new Mrs. Davis was associated with the credit association, and has been very active in local musical organizations and affairs of the First Presbyterian church.

When the bridal party arrived at Daniger's they found a large group of intimate friends already gathered there to surprise them with a breakfast. In the group were Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Guthrie, Mr. and Mrs. Max Cory, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Wahlberg, Mr. and Mrs. Ross Crane, Mr. and Mrs. Otto Schroeder, Mr. and Mrs. Steven Griset, Judge and Mrs. J. W. Dryer, Mrs. R. D. Flaherty, Miss Hazel Newman, Miss Martha Heemstra, Miss Margaret Heemstra, Miss Elizabeth Heemstra, Miss Frances Eiles and John W. Crill.

Mrs. W. D. Guthrie entertained for Mrs. Bichan recently with a charming pre-nuptial miscellaneous shower in her home, 202 West Eighteenth street. A dozen guests, all prominent in the First Presbyterian church, gathered to the bride-elect. A long table was prepared for the serving of refreshments. It held a tiny white Christmas tree at one end, and tall white candles lighted an arch for a miniature bride and groom at the other end. Gifts were presented to Mrs. Bichan in a large box, topped with a doll under a Schubert one.

The afternoon ended with a delicious tea course, with Mrs. C. H. Jeffrey pouring.

MARTHA TUTHILL IS BRIDESMAID

The quartet were guests at a reception in the Burford home in Hollywood later, and Martha caught the bride's bouquet. The girls were classmates in Ramona convent.

HERMOSA O. E. S.

Members of Hermosa chapter, Order of Eastern Star, will enjoy their annual Christmas party and gift exchange in the Masonic temple at 8 p.m. today. Mrs. Fannie Nau is in charge of the dining room, and Mrs. Vera Jacoby is supervising the program. Gifts should not exceed 25 cents.

Book Review of the Week

"NOTES ON A DRUM" by Joseph Henry Jackson
(Courtesy Treasure Isle Gift Shop, 506 North Main)

By MOLLY HARVEY

It is sometimes puzzling to know why an author chose a particular title for a book, and I for one was glad that on his first page Joseph Henry Jackson settled that question once and for all. Up in the highland villages of Guatemala the air shook with the sound of drumming and "our inn room contained no table but a tall Mayan drum set on end for my typewriter, wherefor these notes written on a drum."

But if the reader expects a dissertation of woodism, or a study of the strange mixture of Catholicism and ancient superstition which prevails among the Guatemalan Indians today he will be disappointed. Mr. Jackson's book is purely a travologue, an account of the delightful and leisurely weeks which he and his wife spent in that romantic country which has only recently been discovered by American tourists.

Although the Jacksons had their itinerary arranged by the very capable Clark's Tours, they differed from the casual visitor. In the first place they had read extensively before they started, had obtained a good background knowledge of the country and knew what they wanted to see. And in the second place, while they took all the rubber neck tours that were expected of them, they stayed over in each town or village after the main body of tourists had left and explored as they wanted too. Thus they had a truer notion of everyday life when citizens were not decked out in gala dress and dancing in the market place, but were attending to their regular business.

With careful planning, Mr. and Mrs. Jackson were able to cover the country of Guatemala pretty thoroughly. They went slumming through the ruins of Antigua, which before its destruction by volcanic flow was the most brilliant capital city between Mexico and Peru. Although they found wash drying on the line where yesterday's fountain stood, they relived in imagination the life of the Spanish conquerors.

Entertaining her Third Travel section of Ebell club at the home of her niece, Mrs. Calvin Flint, Miss Preble Drake was hostess Friday afternoon to 40 fellow-members. They enjoyed an exchange of pretty gifts around the lovely blue tree, and later heard a delightful musical program as the steps out, he must allow the same check up, and if he has accumulated more than is reasonable it is just too bad. Another, perhaps old-fashioned principle of the government is to pay as it goes. Little by little roads are being built where a decade ago there were no roads at all, but if there are 10,000 quetzals available in the budget for roads, the government spends 9000 and remains solvent. The biggest problem the country has to face is that of making the Indian useful and keeping him happy. Guatemala's middle class goes about energetically assuring the foreigner that the Indian is happy. "Even before you have a chance to doubt, the protest is made too often."

Mr. Jackson's book makes no great contribution to the world's knowledge of Guatemala, but he tells it well. There are many amusing incidents which will bring a chuckle from the reader.

And it is very probable that many who had only a vague idea that Guatemala was one of the Central American countries will now begin assembling luggage and sailing schedules.

DINNER CLUB FETED IN HARWOOD HOME

Extending the hospitality of their lovely home at 2340 Oakmont street Saturday evening, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Harwood, entertained members of their Saturday Night Dinner club.

Bright poinsettias filled the centerpiece bowl on the table, and were flanked by red tapers. After dinner the group sang Christmas carols, and played various informal games during the jolly evening.

Mrs. S. A. Moore presided over the meeting, introducing Virginia Treverrow, who sang a number of beautiful soprano solos, accompanied by Mary Bruner Ferrey. Mrs. Flint then played a group of Russian folk songs on her violin, completing the program with the two lovely Ave Marias, one the Bach-Gounod, and the other the Harwoods.

HORSEMAN'S ARE CLUB HOSTS

Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Horseman entertained their card club in their home, 2009 Greenleaf street, Thursday night, with a delightful informal Christmas party.

After an evening of bridge, when Mr. and Mrs. Dan Stewart won high prize, and Mr. and Mrs. Karl Baker won consolation, the guests were ushered to a large table beautifully decorated with a large bowl of holly berries. Around the centerpiece were many tall slim tapers.

Enjoying the party dessert course and gift exchange which concluded the evening were Mr. and Mrs. Dan Stewart, Mr. and Mrs. Jess Wright, Mr. and Mrs. Karl Baker, and the Horsemans.

Osteopathic Group Is Feted

Dr. and Mrs. H. W. Leeing extended the courtesy of their beautiful home, 2117 North Flower street, Saturday night to the Orange County Osteopathic auxiliary for the Christmas party with which they entertained for all of the osteopaths.

Mrs. Leeing, Mrs. W. W. Illsley, and Mrs. H. G. Carlin were in charge of all arrangements for the party. Mrs. H. J. Howard, president, Mrs. W. J. Scott, Dr. Bernice Bennett, Mrs. Lawrence Young, Mrs. Ernest Gienger collaborated in the preparation and serving of a delicious dinner. Miss Julia Magill and Mrs. A. E. Vallicher looked after the tree and distribution of gifts.

The small tables were placed all through the spacious living room and library, with small wreaths of holly made by Miss Magill, on the linen covers. The buffet table in the dining room was lovely with a lace cloth, a small red and silver tree, and red candles. Each guest served himself and chose his own table for dinner.

After the dinner, the tables were removed and guests gathered in the large room to listen to the guest speaker, Dr. Evangeline Percival of Los Angeles, whose subject was "The Rights of Children."

Mrs. R. D. Hoard (the former Jean Baldwin) of Santa Ana then sang three beautiful soprano solos, playing her own accompaniment at the piano.

CLASS ENJOYS PROGRESSIVE YULE PARTY

Following a novel progressive motif, members of the Married Women's class of the First Baptist church entertained their children, then had a Christmas party of their own on Friday night. More than 140 were present.

The affair began in the church with a party for the kiddies arranged by Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Hayes, chairmen. They were assisted by Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth King, Dr. and Mrs. F. W. Dean, Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Arthur, Mr. and Mrs. Boyd Stillings, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Ely, and Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Boyd.

First on the program for the youngsters was a puppet show, depicting the birth of the Christ Child, presented by Mrs. W. J. Richardson. She was aided by Miss Claudine Minter, Miss Barbara Gorham, Miss Lorraine Van Horn, Miss Virginia Carnes, and Miss Iris McCay as reader.

Guests were Dr. Percival of Los Angeles; Dr. and Mrs. H. W. Leeing, Dr. and Mrs. Lawrence Young, Dr. and Mrs. H. J. Howard, Dr. and Mrs. R. W. Tibbitts, Dr. and Mrs. A. E. Vallicher, Dr. and Mrs. R. G. Morgan, Dr. Percy M. Gill, Dr. Julia Hinrichs, Dr. John Helmcken, Miss Ethel Helmcken, Mrs. J. D. Helmcken, and Dr. Mary E. Wright, all of Santa Ana.

Dr. and Mrs. H. G. Carlin, Dr. Walter and Dr. Harriet Bigham of Anaheim, Dr. and Mrs. R. D. Hoard of Balboa, Dr. and Mrs. W. W. Illsley of Fullerton, Dr. and Mrs. Ernest Gienger of Buena Park, Dr. Bernice Bennett and Verne Mohn of Huntington Beach.

Mary and Peggy Vernon sang "Silent Night," accompanied by Mrs. Richard Martin, and Nancy Jane Brubaker gave reading.

Then the little tots were seated at a low table pretty with cotoneaster and snow for the serving of refreshments, with special cookies which had been prepared by Mrs. F. W. Dean. They were all seated around the Christmas tree for the arrival of Mr. and Mrs. Santa Claus, Harold Ely and Mrs. R. C. Boyd, who gave them gifts and bags of candy.

Then the older group drove to the C. E. Hayes home, 1121 South Parton street where they sang Christmas carols led by Ernest Ashland, with Mrs. Martin again at the piano. Modernistic Yuletide decorations had been arranged by the Hayes for the party.

From there the group returned to the church for a business meeting conducted by Mrs. Kenneth King, president. During the annual election, Harold Ely was elected president; Mrs. C. G. Lipincott, first vice president; Mrs. John J. Vernon, second vice president; Mrs. S. B. Matthews, secretary; and Dr. Luther Davison, treasurer.

This group was seated at a larger table, with identical decorations as those on the children's table, for refreshments. Adding a merry touch to the evening was an artificial fireplace, red tapers, holly and poinsettias. Gifts were exchanged, and special gifts were presented to Walter Ferris, class teacher; Mrs. John P. Williams, co-teacher; and Mrs. Kenneth King, retiring president.

May Christmas bring to you the old, lovely things of life: sunlight on mountains, ships and the sea, gulls calling after a rain, long roads with candles and open fires at eve, red apples and shabby books, children playing and cats in windows, the companionship of friends and the music of a violin.

For life has nothing better than these: the simple things, the tender things of the heart.

I. T. U. GROUP
FETES GUESTS WITH PARTY

Long tables—beautifully decorated with wreaths of red cellophane, tall red tapers, and glittering silver leaves formed delightful setting for the annual Christmas banquet of the International Typographical union's auxiliary.

More than 80 of the auxiliary members and their guests were present for the dinner, served in the Modern Woodman hall by the Women's Service club. Following the dinner and pleasing musical program, the group gathered about a large Christmas tree for a gift exchange.

Mrs. E. W. Ellis headed a committee in charge of decorations, while Mrs. George Duke arranged the program.

Featured on the evening's program were adagio dances and comic adagios by Keggy, Phil and Jimmie, young professional dancers. Other selections were piano solos by Suzanne and Diane Duke, a piano solo and song by Nancy Lee Germany, a solo by O. K. Maxwell, a duet by Betty Shidler and Eleanor Lawrence, solos by George Duke and Fred Germany, a tap dance by Maureen Waters, and a duet by Mr. and Mrs. Fred Germany.

DOROTHY PREBLE IS HOSTESS
BEFORE DANCE

Delta Sigma Chi's first formal dance, a colorful affair which will be followed by many more as the newly-organized sorority grows older, was held Saturday night at beautiful Norconian club.

Dinner preceded the affair, for which white and gold cards marked places. Couples from all over the Southland were present at the local chapter's invitation, and a delightful time was had.

Miss Dorothy Preble of Santa Ana planned a pre-dance party in the spacious Santa Ana home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. S. I. Preble. Many friends from neighboring cities gathered there to form a "luncheon" party for the trip to Lake Arrowhead.

Noted in the Christmas-decorated rooms were several lovely gowns, too. Miss Preble was in rivid Kelly green moire, and her co-hostess, Miss Norma Kenny, was in blue crepe. Miss Betty Wadsworth was in black net over flowered satin, and Miss Eleanor Wisner was in powder blue moire. Mrs. Max Pellerin of Santa Paula, the former Ella Orch, was also in blue moire, and Miss Irene Ross was in blue taffeta. Miss Daisy Carr was in coral satin.

Others enjoying the Preble hospitality were Mark Neilson of Los Angeles, Darrell Fluder, Ralph Wakeham, J. E. Sonneborn of Riverside, Dr. William Leck, Jacob De Vires, Dallas Coleman, and Max Pellerin.

SANDRA WALKER HAS PARTY ON BIRTHDAY

Mrs. Victor Walker was hostess Saturday afternoon when she gave a delightful birthday party for her daughter Sandra on her third anniversary. It was in the lovely new Walker home at 2425 Heliotrope Drive.

Sandra wore a new pink silk party dress, a birthday gift from her mother. The little guests played during the afternoon on the new swing and teeter totter given to Sandy by Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Gould. The basket of gifts was opened at this time, with Victor Walker taking pictures of the whole party.

The guests were seated at one long table for refreshments. It was centered with a Santa Claus from which red ribbons ran to every place. At the end of each ribbon was a little bracelet for each tiny girl, as well as red baskets of candy and a gumdrop Santa.

Sandra's guests were Dianne Harbert, Donna Lou Dearth, Meredith Kendall, Jean Coulson, Donna Wacker, and Shirley Sue Stahler. Mrs. Charles Walker assisted during the afternoon.

The invention of the clock is ascribed to Pope Sylvester II in 996 A.D.

STRANGE AS IT SEEMS

THE GENERAL'S LEG . . .

Strange as it seems, Mexican General Santa Anna had one foot in the grave for 38 years!

His left foot—and leg—was laid to rest in the cemetery of Santa Paula, Mexico City, 1843, with more military honors than were accorded his own funeral 38 years later!

Antonio Lopez de Santa Anna joined his country's army at 15, and by successive steps became Mexico's minister of war, commander-in-chief of the army and in 1833, President. In 1838 he offered his services to Mexico against the French, on December 5 successfully defending the city of Vera Cruz against them. Santa Anna received a bad leg injury in this battle, and in 1842 an aggravation of the wound necessitated the amputation of his left leg below the knee. It was buried with great ceremony beneath a magnificent monument at Monga de Clavo, near Vera Cruz, and on Sept. 26, 1842, it was removed to Mexico City.

Attended by a large military procession, headed by Santa Anna himself, the leg was carried to the Cemetery of Santa Paula in a small urn and reinterred amid a splendid ceremony.

Those Rose Bowl Tickets

A great deal of criticism is arising these days concerning the Rose Bowl tickets, criticism which comes from people with little license to complain and not much ground for complaint.

The Rose Bowl, like every other structure which ever was erected, is limited in capacity. It can seat so many persons, and no more. In recent years the demand for tickets has pretty generally exceeded the supply. Naturally then, some thousands of would-be spectators have to be disappointed each New Year's day.

The game itself is played between the ranking Coast conference team and one representing some university east of the Rockies. Always, it has been the practice to give alumni of the two competing institutions first call on tickets. What brings forth the lusty howls now is the fact that the western institution this time is California, which has by far the largest body of old grads of any coast institution. The U. C. alumni are so numerous, in fact, that they just about have absorbed the total supply.

The kicks come from "the general public," "fans at large," big city sports editors who haven't just now much else to write about, and, latest, the All Year club, tourist promotion agency. According to this newest critic, the game was originated in the beginning "to focus publicity on the Pacific coast and on the manner in which outdoor sports are possible here in midwinter." Well, it has done that, and still is doing, it effectively.

The All Year club's second complaint is that "there are no tickets available for the visiting fan." Admittedly, that is true every year after the capacity of the bowl is sold, and it has to be true. You can't put more spectators into the grandstand than the seats will hold.

But the other side of the picture is that the game has become of national interest and national importance, not because it is just a game played out of doors on Jan. 1, but because of the high character of the game. For this, the Pacific coast conference must receive the credit. And certainly, the university which happens to lead the conference in any one year is entitled to first call for tickets. Vast numbers of California alumni live elsewhere than Southern California. They will come to Pasadena on New Year's day from far and near. Many Alabama alumni also will trek across the country for the game.

Last year it was Washington and Pittsburgh, with great numbers of their old grads and undergrads, too, coming from Seattle, Pittsburgh and points in between and beyond. They were tourists such as the All Year club is talking about. They filled the bowl, enjoyed the game, and no doubt are still talking about it on occasion. This year a similar result will be achieved.

If any mistake has been made in the ticket distribution, it may lie in allowing six cardboards, rather than a lesser number, to each alumnus, but that is a mistake (if it is one) that has been made annually. As to the general plan, we are unable to see much justice in all the clamor which has been raised concerning it. It is too bad there will be disappointed applicants, but there always will be many such as long as the game is interesting enough to attract more would-be spectators than there are seats to hold them.

Until President Roosevelt addressed the Mikado, a lot of folks thought that was just an amateur light opera.

North Main Street Extension

One of the richest belts in the county lies north of Orange and across the Santa Ana river in the prosperous Placentia area.

At present this territory can be easily reached from Santa Ana over good roads, but a savings in distance is possible through the extension of Main street north across Chapman avenue in Orange.

Such an extension probably would be expensive in that it would cut into a lot of productive and valuable orange acreage, and this drawback might work against the project until such a time as the population becomes greater.

An alternate route is available, however, up Batavia street, which runs just to the east of a theoretical extension of Main street.

By cutting through Main street, or improving and straightening Batavia, a fast, time-saving highway could be constructed to Anaheim-Olive boulevard—shown on the map at the top of the dotted line—and the bridge on this route used for a river crossing.

Santa Ana needs good, direct roads into all parts of the county for the beneficial exchange of goodwill and business.

The North Main street extension, or its equivalent, should go on the county's highway program for construction as soon as possible.

FAIR Enough

Washington
Unlike Any Other City

By Westbrook
Pegler

NEW YORK.—Whatever the state of the nation may be and whatever the state of the world, the capital of the republic is feeling no pain at this writing beyond the pangs of political and social ambition and the familiar tremors of chronic katzenjammer. It almost seems as though some invisible but very substantial barrier reef surrounds that island of luxury and pleasure on the Potomac to keep out the tumbling seas of trouble whose boomerang outside the city limits and off in the distance is only an accustomed sound, sometimes loud, sometimes low, but right now very loud.

Washington is unlike any other capital in the world. There is more government help on hand than in any other seat of government and the officials, the statesmen and the heads of bureaus get around more freely than in London, Paris or Rome. The British government must have a large pay roll in London, for example and undoubtedly there are times when the man at the next table in the cocktail room or the restaurant is someone down in Whitehall. But these other cities have other business whereas Washington's only business is the government and the care and feeding of those who work in the government offices. And it is a small city with few places of public resort for a personnel who seem unusually restless and like to gather for cocktails and lunch and whiskey-soda at 5 and therefore come together in crowds. Some of the careers are short and men out of obscure circumstances are eager to see and be seen and identified as persons of importance for a moment, aware that they will be forgotten soon and forever. There are well-dressed people vaguely described as lobbyists and what they do is a mystery even to comparatively old inhabitants although it seems that they all do something and make money out of it. When you are advised that a man or woman is lobbyist it is taken for granted that you understand what a lobbyist does, although it is improbable that methods are as crude as that today. The old-fashioned lobbyist was a man who hung around the lobbies of the state or national legislature, followed the statesmen into the washroom and slipped them ten dollars apiece or maybe a hundred for voting "aye" on the street car franchise or the tariff.

PERSONAL PICTURE
The large impression, though, is not of lobbying or mystery, and certainly not of worry over the responsibility of the most important government in the world, but of social excitement and better personal feuds between men and women who have fallen out over conflicts of authority and prestige or social precedence. Some of the unknowns who went whooping to the capital to save the nation and their press clippings early in the first Roosevelt administration, have been shuffled back by now, and new marvels have come in to tackle the confusion of a government so complex that it is impossible for anyone but a few earnest students of such things to remember who is or was.

So there is more talk of personal failure and who didn't get a bid to the White House than of wages and hours or the recession which is the new name applied to depression when it plays a return engagement. The big topic of this week, after a few idle words have been said about the Panay incident in the President's reception to the diplomatic corps, a dreadful mockery, at which the agents of countries which are cutting one another's throat or preparing to do so at the first opportunity, showed up in a pretense of amity with swords clanking and medals tinkling on uniforms too preposterous for a low-down comedian in a knockout movie. This one wore horse-feathers in his hat and tactfully avoided meeting that one with the red shawl looped over his shoulder as their countrymen a long way off were swinging each other's trips out in an undecided war.

ONE BIG PARTY
And afterward there was a reception at historic Decatur house, the home of Mrs. Truxton Beale, and were you there, my pet, and if you weren't what a who Mrs. Truxton Beale is, so much the worse. At Mrs. Beale's reception where, incidentally nobody got a drink, the light from the gas jets flickered over polished floors and vases of iller because there is no electricity in historic Decatur house, and as soon as the victims could break away they took it on the run to some place where they could dive up to their ears in Scotch and slosh around.

Is this a scratchy picture and out of drawing? If so, thanks because that is the scene I have been trying to give you.

EVERYDAY MOVIES

"C'mon, Tommy—it's all just make-believe."

Twenty-Five Years Ago

DEC. 20, 1912

LOS ANGELES.—The body of Chester Lawrence, Los Angeles newspaperman who started with Horace Kearney on the ill-fated flight from Newport bay to San Francisco last Saturday, washed ashore this morning below Santa Barbara. Searchers still are looking for the body of Kearney, who they are certain perished when the ship disappeared at sea.

Capt. Bill Warren was host at a banquet honoring the Santa Ana High school football team in his home last night. Players present: "Wes" Visel, "Spud" Morrison, "Shorty" Smith, "Snooks" Tedford, "Dutch" Holzgrafe, "Si" Easton, "Tubby" Seiph, "Dick" Whetson, "Pinky" Timmons, "Fat" Colland, "Jug" Walters and Warren.

The body of the outlaw who shot and killed Deputy Sheriff Robert Squires last week has been definitely identified as that of Joe Matlock, son of a former mayor of Eugene, Ore. Sheriff Ruxsack revealed today. The youth was killed by a sheriff's posse which searched through the nearby foothills for him in connection with an alleged attack on a local rancher's daughter.

LONDON.—The peace plenipotentiaries of the Balkan allies came together in informal meeting today to decide on their plan of action should Turkey decline to raise her boycott of the Greek delegates unless that country signs the armistice.

JAPANESE QUAKER
On the trip, Hirohito took with him a guard of 60 armed men when he presented his credentials to the emperor in 1868. Despite this precaution, 11 of his guards were wounded by Japanese who objected to this intrusion, and the emperor almost lost his throne in the rebellion which followed.

Today, the same battle is being fought over again. Hirohito, a moderate and intelligent emperor, faces the fate of being boxed in by the extreme militarist group within the army and being made a mere puppet to cloak a completely fascist dictatorship in Japan.

It should be noted that hitherto, few people were allowed to see, let alone touch the Japanese emperor. The court physician felt his pulse through silk gauze, while the court tailor took his measurements by guesswork from the room.

On Hirohito's ship passing through the Red sea, however, Sa wada recounts that "Marquis Konatsu" wrestled with His Highness, who seemed not to mind the heat nor the intensity of the exercise. Time and again His Highness struggled with his opponents, even when troubled by nose-bleeding.

Later, in Paris Hirohito persuaded his bodyguard to let him ride on the subway despite strict orders in Tokyo against it. He even insisted on having his thrill of buying the tickets himself. This he did, and presented three to the fat old lady who guarded the gate. But he handed them to her a bunch, rather than spread out fan-shape so she could punch them quickly, and she loosed a storm of terrific abuse on the future emperor of Japan.

"Kimi," he finally appealed to one of his aides, "the grandmother is talking to me. I can't understand her, but she seems to have her back up."

Hirohito's chief delight was in getting off the gold braid of his "working clothes" and being just an ordinary person. Once during an official parade in Paris, Hirohito's carriage was passing down an isolated street, and he exchanged coats with one of his aides, leaving the latter to take the bows of the crowds, while the emperor-to-be slipped off incognito to explore the streets of Paris.

COMPLIMENT RETURNED
"What a lovely woman!" said Lord Chancellor Eldon as he passed a famous beauty.

"What an excellent judge," quickly replied the woman, who chanced to overhear the compliment paid her.

DEMOCRATIC HIROHITO
All of which probably does not sit too well with the emperor. For Hirohito is rather a kindly, democratic person much more moderate and modern than most of the statesmen around him. When he returned from a European trip while still Prince Regent, he issued an edict that henceforth traffic should not be cleared from the streets as he passed through. Previously the streets had been completely cleared of human life and the windows shuttered.

On his trip, Hirohito noted that traffic did not stop for European rulers, and returning to Japan he remarked:

"The idea of any one man holding up thousands of people. It's all foolishness."

This European trip in itself was one of the greatest events of the empire, and some Japanese threw themselves in front of his train to protest against his departure. To them, the emperor should lead a cloistered life, and a visit to the heathen shores of Europe was bound to bring national disaster.

So intense was the feeling that the emperor must remain in sacred seclusion that Sir Harry Parkes, first British minister to Japan, was forced to take with him a guard of 60 armed men when he presented his credentials to the emperor in 1868. Despite this precaution, 11 of his guards were wounded by Japanese who objected to this intrusion, and the emperor almost lost his throne in the rebellion which followed.

Today, the same battle is being fought over again. Hirohito, a moderate and intelligent emperor, faces the fate of being boxed in by the extreme militarist group within the army and being made a mere puppet to cloak a completely fascist dictatorship in Japan.

It is true that a pound of the artificial "rubber" costs several times the price of a pound of the natural product, but don't let that little detail defeat you. There were years, within the lifetime of men now living, when aluminum was more costly than silver; and the early rayon yarns were more expensive to produce than silk.

Already, our man-made elastic stuff is superior to the natural product in many qualities. Its texture and reactive characteristics are such that it is resistant to oils and other penetrating substances which destroy ordinary rubber. Therefore, some petroleum, aeronautic and chemical industries already prefer synthetic "rubber" for certain specialized uses. As processes are improved and mass production lowers the cost, we may expect the artificial material to go into tires, hose, belting, shoes, clothing, all the variety of uses. In how many years? Nobody knows.—George W. Gray, writer on scientific subjects, in Coronet.

By BOB BURNS

I don't understand all these political upsets over the country. Politicians are using the same methods they always did, so I guess it must be the people that are gettin' new ideas.

My Uncle Orchie ran for county tax assessor this year and when I asked him how he come out, he took a little book out of his pocket and he said "Here's the history of my campaign. I lost 1214 hours of sleep thinkin' about it; lost two front teeth and some hair in a personal encounter; donated one cow and six sheep to county barbecues; gave away two pairs of suspenders; four calico dresses and $5 in cash; kissed 126 babies; put up four stoves; walked 4076 miles; shook hands with 9508 people and told 10,101 lies; attended 133 revivals and was baptized four times; made love to nine widows; hugged 40 old maids; got hit by 24 dogs and lost the election by 333 votes!"

SHOP AT HOME

The more I visit Long Beach during the Christmas season the greater grows my amazement that Orange county cities apparently have so little business during the same period. Down there last Saturday, with a heavy rain falling, it seemed as though half of Los Angeles and two-thirds of Orange county must have been present. Stores were jammed and it was all life was worth to get a clerk to wait on you. I am beginning to suspect more and more strongly the presence of a loose screw somewhere in our business structure.

Yes, I know, Podunk goes to a bigger town to shop, and residents of the bigger town go to a still bigger one. But why? Is it human nature, or is it merely lack of intelligent merchandising at home? Some of both, one suspects. At any rate there seems no very good reason why Orange countians should not patronize Santa Ana, Anaheim and Fullerton merchants providing they can get what they want at the price they consider fair. Quality, service, price, those are the three factors that impel buying anywhere. Is Orange county providing them? There is something for the chamber of commerce to concentrate upon. A little acceptance of the fact that something is haywire and a willingness to remedy it would work wonders. One can't stimulate business by looking pathetic.—The Tustin News.

Increased production costs make this necessary.

The railroads are in the same position as
